Horticulture Seminar Series, Fall 2018

Mondays, 12:20 pm—1:10 pm, 404 Plant Science

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Date</th>
<th>Speaker &amp; Affiliation</th>
<th>Title</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| August 27  | Miles Schwartz Sax
Ph.D. candidate,
Section of Horticulture | Developing clonally propagated stress tolerant oaks for the urban environment |
| September 3 | No seminar                                       | Labor Day                                                              |
| September 10 | William Kreuser
Assistant Professor
University of Nebraska - Lincoln | Data driven management on the urban grassland                        |
| September 17 | Jessica Lubell
Associate Professor
University of Connecticut | From the wild to the landscape: Developing native shrubs for the green industry |
| September 24 | Natalie Mueller
Postdoctoral Fellow
Section of Horticulture | Growing the lost crops of eastern North America: Developmental plasticity in plant domestication |
| October 1  | Courtney Hollender
Assistant Professor
Michigan State University | Molecular and genetic regulation of lateral shoot orientation in plants |
| October 8  | No seminar                                       | Fall Break                                                              |
| October 15 | Kathy Kelley
Professor
Pennsylvania State University | Marketing value-added products in the Mid-Atlantic region             |
| October 22 | Chad Husby
Botanical Horticulturist
Fairchild Tropical Botanical Garden | Tropical Plant Exploration, Introduction and Evaluation for the 21st Century |
| October 29 | Jessica Savage
Assistant Professor
University of Minnesota - Duluth | A sweet journey: Structural and physiological constraints on phloem transport |
| November 5 | Jacqueline Ricotta
Professor
Delaware Valley University | Hands-on Learning in Horticulture                                       |
| November 12 | Yolanda Gonzalez and Sam Anderson
Urban Agriculture Specialists
Cornell Cooperative Extension | The Challenges of urban farming in NYC                                |
| November 19 | Thomas Björkman
Professor
Section of Horticulture | Cover crops for enhancing soil health in vegetable production         |
| November 26 | No seminar                                       |                                                                        |
| December 3 | Tom Whitlow
Professor
Section of Horticulture | The Galapagos: iguanas, tortoises, finches, but where are the plants? |